Introduction: Two Friends and a Bear Story is an English bedtime story for kids. Kids will learn an important lesson from this moral based story. Let's start.

Once there were two friends, they were walking on a dangerous path in the forest, as soon as the sun started setting, the forest became scary. Suddenly, a bear appeared.

Tales & Stories

The bear was black and brown. As soon as a chance came, one of the boys ran towards a nearby tree and climbed on it.

The other boy did not know how to climb trees, so he made a plan. He lay on the ground holding his breath as if he was dead. The bear saw the boy lying on the ground, and the bear circled around his head and sniffed him and thought that the boy was no more. The bear left the place silently. As the bear walked away, the boy came down from the tree, and he asked his friend what the bear had said in his ear. He replied, “Don’t trust friends who don’t care about you.”

Moral of the Story: Don’t trust friends who don’t care about you.
