

Describe The Time When You Had To Sing A Song Or A Poem In Front Of The Public

- Where were you
- What did you sing
- How did you feel

Sample Answer:

I would love to tell you about that poem which I sang for the first and the last time in front of the audience. My age was 7 years at that time, and it was an annual meet of our school; I vividly remember that day when my class teacher Mrs. Suharma announced my name as a surprise singer. I was shocked and quickly got nervous. Since I never was a good singer.

My mom was sitting next to me. Without wasting any time, she motivated me and pushed me towards the stage. I stepped up and started singing the poem "Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall"; After singing a few lines, I started singing it wrongly. I had mixed it up with some other rhyme. Due to this, everyone was laughing. They were cheering me up and motivating me even though I was singing it wrong. They enjoyed my poem more than any other performance that day.

I was excited and happy too. It was my first performance of life. However, I never tried again because I was so bad at cramming things. Moreover, my voice was also not good. I used to make even serious things funnier unintentionally.
